'Taproots'

Street Novel

Makes Fine Picture

TAP ROOTS. Walter Wanger production of James Street's novel; with Susan Hayward as Morna Dabney; Ward Bond as Sam Dabney; Van Heflin as Keith Alexander; and Boris Karloff as the Indian Tishomingo; playing at the Saenger through Tuesday.

Like the rest of you who have followed James Street's novels ("O Promised Land," "Tap Roots," "Of Valor and Arms" and "The Gauntlet"), I was tempted to say a good word for the Saenger before it was actually shown.

But the caution was needless; Walter Wanger has turned Street's novel into a great motion picture.

There have been many fine stories about the War between the States, but "Tap Roots" is new and different. This is the tale of mythical Lebanon County, Mississippi, which, while the South fought the North, decided it would be independent and neutral.

Sam Dabney had founded the civilization of the valley of Lebanon, and ruled it like a patriarch. There is a biblical quality in the novel which is preserved by the picture—with Technicolor bringing out the pastoral nature of the scene, its river, its hills, and embattled farmers.

Ward Bond is perfectly cast as the patriarch; Susan Hayward gives the best performance of her career as the wixen daughter Morna; Boris Karloff proves his versatility in the role of Tishomingo, old Indian raider of the family — and for Van Heflin is reserved the dramatic role of Keith Alexander, the two-gun editor of the Mississippi Whig, who quit the Confederacy to throw in his lot with the Lebanon valley folks and saw his newspaper plant stoned and put to the torch—all because of the beauty named Morna.

You will say, before seeing the picture, it has traces of "Gone With the Wind." But it hasn't.

"Tap Roots" is a brand new story of the South, written by James Street, Mississippi boy, and turned into a picture that does Hollywood credit around the world.

Even if Henry Can't See It, World Revolt is Still Red Goal By JAMES THRASHER

Henry A. Wallace shires with most of the "common men" of this war-torn and war-weary world a desire for peace. But his apparent desire for peaceful surrender at any price is not shared by many freedom-loving people, including we imagine, a majority of his fellow Americans.

It is Mr. Wallace's theory that the differences between the United States and the Soviet Union were made in America by war-hungry politicians and militarists and money-hungry financiers. It is his theory that these differences arise from a conflict between systems of thought which can be dissolved by sweet reason into a conference with Premier Stalin and quickly erase all threat of war.

This would be a splendid prescription, and if it did not collide so violently with fact it could probably get him elected almost unanimously. But Mr. Wallace so consistently overlooks the conflict between the facts and his preconceived theories that the whole case for his candidacy seems to vanish like snowflakes that melt when they first touch solid ground.

Mr. Wallace displayed this optimistic but uncertain manner of thinking again in his half-hearted brush-off of Communists' support. His declaration was evidently an answer to Rex Tugwell, one of his chief supporters, who had said he would leave the Wallace party if Communists were allowed to run it.

The third-party candidate did not repudiate Communist support. He said he "did not want" the support of any group that believes in the violent overthrow of our government or that "pursues their allegiance to some foreign capital first whether it is Moscow or any other place." But he made it clear that he did not think there were many Communists among his followers who were guilty on either count.

Mr. Wallace has often confessed ignorance of Communist doctrine and vague knowledge of Communist party policy. He has also, in the case of the Czechoslovakia coup, made it clear that he suspects the U. S. press of anti-Russian fabrications.

But his declaration contained some positive and amazing statements. "There is as much variation in the beliefs of Communists as in the beliefs of Democrats and Republicans," he said (Remember Earl Browder, Mr. Wallace?). "I doubt if any Marxists today are as violent as Lincolns, and Jeffersons.

McMath to Meet With Legislative Council

Little Rock, Sept. 13.—(UP)—Arkansas' newly-formed legislative council will get its first official look at the state's next chief executive this week when it meets with Governor-designate Sid McMath on Saturday.

McMath, who plans a conference

Friday with all state college and university officials—will ask the council to aid in setting up a more efficient sales tax collection system. The Hot Springs prosecutor has estimated that present sales tax collections are only 62 per cent efficient and that the state is losing more than $4,000,000 from that source each year.

McMath also plans to ask the council for assistance in planning a road program, increasing old age pensions and reorganizing the revenue department. He will discuss higher teachers salaries and better education facilities with the state's educators on Friday.

Case Closed Says U. S. on Teacher Issue

Washington, Sept. 13.—(UP)—The United States again has turned down Soviet protests in the case of the runaway school teachers and now "considers" the matter closed.

The State Department disclosed that Secretary Marshall last Thursday sent the Soviet embassy a note in which he rejected: (1) a Russian request for "free and unobstructed access" to the teachers, Mrs. Oksana Kasenkina and Michael Samarin.

(2) Soviet charges that the Federal Bureau of Investigation and the Tolstoy foundation, an anti-Communist organization, had committed illegal acts in the case.

"It is a matter exclusively for the determination of Mrs. Kasenkina and Mr. Samarin whether they will see the representatives of the Soviet government," Marshall wrote.

The teachers currently are under protection of the American government after refusing to return to the Soviet Union. Mrs. Kasenkina is in a New York hospital recovering from injuries suffered when she jumped from the third floor of the Russian consulate in what she said was an attempt to escape.

Marshall told Russian Ambassador Alexander S. Panayushkin that the department understands Mrs. Kasenkina "is rapidly regaining her health."

Once she recovers, Mrs. Kasenkina and Mr. Samarin, too, will enjoy "complete freedom of movement," and will be free to see whomever they wish.

The note said the Russian government "must therefore have realized" that it must comply with the Russian request of Aug. 29 "would be incompatible with the principle of law on which the United States government was founded and to which it adheres."

Mrs. Kasenkina has stated to Soviet Vice Consul Chepurnyuk in the presence of witnesses that she does not wish to see her or any other Soviet representative.

Mrs. Kasenkina has been under no restriction of any kind other than those normally required by medical practice for patients suffering from injuries such as she sustained.

Marshall's note also informed the Russians that the U. S. is closing as quickly as possible its consulate in Vladivostok. He asked the Soviets to inform the U. S. of the official date for the final closing of the Soviet consulates in this country.

Russia announced its intention last month of closing its consulate in New York and San Francisco.

Encouraging to Know U.S. Money Not Available to Nations With Red Tactics

BY THOMAS MACKENZIE
AP Foreign Affairs Analyst

all of the democracies are continuing limited trade with Russia and her satellites, but transactions are being restricted to those things which do not threaten the Communists militarily or financially.

Paul G. Hoffman, economic co-operation administrator, assures us that Marshall Plan aid will be cut off from any country going Communist or Fascist for that. This paradoxical situation naturally gives rise to the query why there should be any trade at all. Well, even in a "hot war" must be iron-clad if the democracies are to win their life-and-death battles against communism. There can be no half-way business in international laws governing warfare appear to have taken this trophy sentimentally which is not consideration.

The American policy regarding those of us who were at the front against fascism if it knew there was a tacit understanding should crop up in theory between the Germans and us.

The policy of Britain and the Allies in some sectors that army rest of the Marshall Plan nations, and divisional headquarters. Its avowed purpose is to prevent democracies from being forced into communism. However, I believe it cuts much deeper and that we are safe in saying it also is designed to whittle down the war potential of Russia and her satellites. This is a purely defensive measure.

Not only does this policy affect the Marshall Plan but it affects general economic relations with the Red Bloc. Most, and perhaps the American public, regarding those of us who were at the front against communism and fascism if it knew there was a tacit understanding.

52739 Democrat and 263,155 Republican.

All three states went for Mr. Hoover in 1928 when the late Alfred E. Smith was the Democratic candidate.

The Republicans are not counting on the Democratic civil war alone to make inroads in the South. For the first time in many years GOP headquarters has set up a separate bureau to handle Southern affairs and has sent a special emissary into Southern states.

Meanwhile, the Democratic national committee indicated it was ready to go to the courts in an attempt to get the Truman-Barkley ticket on the ballot in Louisiana.

The threat of court action came from William J. Primm, Jr., assistant to Democratic Chairman J. Howard McGrath. He denounced as "flagrantly dishonest and fraudulent" the action of the Louisiana state central committee in removing the names of Truman-Barkley electors from the ballot and substituting those favoring Wallace — Progressive Party candidate Henry A. Wallace went to Chicago for a two day meeting with party farm leaders. Tomorrow night he will address a rally at Chicago's Wrigley Field. In a speech at Baltimore, Md., last night, Wallace denounced President Truman as a "consistently inconsistent" man who "manages to be on both sides of every issue that comes along." The president, he said, "pays lip service to extending civil rights but he has not abolished segregation in the armed forces."

Wallace vote — A United Press survey indicated as of today that Wallace's vote in November will be fewer than 2,000,000 in the 35 to 40 states in which he will be on the ballot.

Socialists — James T. Farrell, author and chairman of the independent voters for Norman Thomas, urged Dr. Albert Einstein to support Thomas' candidacy for president on the Socialist ticket. He told Einstein in an open letter that Thomas' campaign "emphasizes the same ideals and calls for the same moral and intellectual seriousness which has motivated your entire life."

The Dixiecrat candidates, Gov. J. Strom Thurmond of South Carolina and Gov. Fielding Wright of Mississippi.

Primm also assailed Dixiecrat tactics in Alabama, Mississippi and South Carolina. He said the national committee would make an all-out effort to see that Southern voters "are not deprived of their Democratic rights by fraud or other devious means."

Continued From Page One Convention Hall looked awful big. And awful awful. Thousands of people staring at her and talking about the blue taffeta, strapless evening gown she served together.

She wondered whether her solo went over with the judges when she took her padded sticks in hand and did one from the classics on her vibraphone. She's probably one of few left-handed vibraphone players in the world.

Anyhow, the judges must have been impressed. Bebe won. She looked tuckered as I led her around in a rhumba at the Coronation Ball. But lovely with it all—height 5 feet 9, bust 37, hair golden brown, eyes blue green and shoe-size 9A.

Bebe who has a mother as cute as us, intends to use the scholarship she won at MacPhail School of Music in Minneapolis. That's MacP's girl.

GRAIN AND PROVISIONS

Chicago, Sept. 13 (AP)—A good amount of early gains in grain was lost toward the close on the board of trade today. Profit-taking, castness in securities and expectations that the visible supply figures would show an increase in corn stocks caused some late selling.

At one time September corn advanced more than 3 cents, shorts buying the grain aggressively on the way up. Cash prices also advanced. But as the price at the highest point since June 1 longs offered the grain more freely.

Stocks of corn in store here this week were placed at 436,000 bushels. A gain from last week's low level of 260,000 bushels but still well under last year's 2,297,600 bushels. Open interest in September corn at the start of today's trading totaled 17,385,000 bushels.

Wheat closed 1-2 lower to 1 cent higher. September $2.23; 3-4 $2.24; December 7-8 lower to 1-1 higher. September $1.74; 1-2-7.3; oats 1-1 lower to 1-1 higher. September $1.55; and soybeans were unchanged to 2 cents lower. November $2.59; 1-2.

Case can advanced 2 to 2 cents, both No. 1 and No. 2 yellow selling at $2.90. Offerings of cans grain by the carloads were only moderate, totaling 65,000 bushels.

Soybeans firm early fell off to wind the close with gains.

Wheat moved higher in the spot market today along with the futures trade; basic was steady; receipts 57 cars. Corn was one to three cents up; basis about unchanged; bookings 65,000 bushels; shipping sales 2,000 bushels; receipts 225 cars. Oats were about unchanged; basis unchanged to easier; shipping sales 22,000 bushels; receipts 43 cars. Soybeans receipts were 15 cars.

NEW ORLEANS COTTON

New Orleans Sept. 13 (AP)—Cotton futures declined here today under hedge-selling and profit-taking on the longside.

Closing prices were steady 45 cents to 35 cents a bale lower. Oct high 31.20 — low 31.02 — close 31.03-06.

Dec high 30.37 — low 30.37 — close 30.73.

Jly high 29.47 — low 29.34 — close 29.36-35.

NEW YORK COTTON

New York Sept. 13 (AP)—Commission house and New Orleans selling depressed cotton futures moderately today. The selling party represented profit taking and was also influenced by prospects of heavier hedging when ginning reach full peak.

In early dealings the market advanced almost $1 a bale on aggressive trading buying partly against foreign sales and commission house demand on expectations of large cotton shipments which could later tighten up market supplies.

Futures closed 90 cents a bale lower to 60 cents than from the previous close.

Oct high 31.37 — low 31.04 — last 31.04-09.

Marriage of 'Socialite' Is Blocked

Daytona Beach, Fla., Sept. 13 (UPI)—Socialite Francis Hitchcock, 39, and his bride-to-be from a Little Pennsylvania coal-mining town today awaited the removal of legal barriers before disclosing final plans for their wedding in a gleaming white dreamhouse overlooking Atlantic Sands.

It was disclosed yesterday that Hitchcock, 39, and Stephana Sajia, 22-year-old blonde daughter of a czechoslovak coal miner, had chosen White Castle, a two-story white stucco cottage at Wilbury-by-the-sea, as a setting for their marriage.

But other details of their plans were withheld as the couple went into seclusion to await a final decree on Hitchcock's divorce from his second wife.

Col. Arch Wall, father-in-law of a college mate of the wealthy Hitchcock and owner of the house in which the couple will wed indicated that divorced decree was expected sometime today.

Meanwhile, Hitchcock kept his beautiful, Cinderella-girl fiancee busy swimming in the surf and sightseeing at nearby picturesque points, to help ease the tension of the delay.

Besides waiting for the divorce papers, the couple had to comply with Florida's three-day waiting period. They obtained their marriage license last week when they appeared together before Judge E. W. Johnson at Bunnell, Fla.

The romance between the son of one of America's wealthiest families and the willowy, dark-haired girl who fled the slippages of a coal town to seek her fortune in New York developed in true storybook fashion.

Stephana was born in the little mining town of Windber, Pa., which is likely Iowa for his home state. It is judged to be safely Republican this year regardless of the Third Party.

Radical Wisconsin is expected to poll Wallace 75,000 votes and more than 200,000 votes for Wallace May.

Wallace is expected to be good for 50,000 votes if he gets the Iowa ballot, which is likely, Iowa for his home state. It is judged to be safely Republican this year regardless of the Third Party.

Radical Wisconsin is expected to poll Wallace 75,000 votes and more than 200,000 votes. That is 10 per cent of the expected North Dakota poll.

His potential Ohio vote is estimated today at about 170,000. But involved ballot procedure probably will reduce that figure considerably for most of his electoral chances.

Some other survey estimates of Wallace's likely vote by state:

Kansas 5,000; Indiana 15,000; Missouri 20,000 to 40,000; Louisiana 15,000; Montana 10,000; North Carolina 5,000; Oregon 10,000; South Dakota 5,000; Utah 3,000 to 10,000.

Until the revolution, New York had been under British rule for 110 years.

Supreme Court Will Reconvene September 27

Little Rock, Sept. 13 (AP)—The Arkansas Supreme Court will reconvene Monday, Sept. 27, following a summer vacation.

No decisions will be handed down that day, but cases will be taken under submission for possible decision a week later.

the conflict of ideas that led to the "religious war" for American independence. But unless the sacred writings of Marx have been secretly discarded, the Communist goal is still world revolution—and with it no freedom of thought or speech, no freedom from want or fear.

The evidence of that is found in the Soviet-dominated countries of the world today. And it is that evidence which Mr. Wallace steadfastly refuses to see or to believe.

"I don't think they need to have anyone stand over them with a shoulder," he said.

"The problem of prostitution is not solved in a criminal court. It is a social, economic and moral problem."

The three were found guilty on vice charges brought by police wire-tapped phone conversations between the women and men.

The Doyle home demonstration club met Wednesday, Sept. 3, at the home of Mrs. J. H. Jeifers with 12 members, 1 visitor, and 4 children present. The regular program for the month was carried out with a discussion of business matters. We had an auction sale which brought a good sum of money to put into the treasury. The demonstration was making and covering sewing boxes, which turned out very nicely.

Several games were played. The cakes and punch. The next meeting will be Oct. 13 at the home of Mrs. Clyde Hartman.

Women on the island of Cheju off the coast of Korea traditionally earn the family living by diving for shells and other sea products while the men often tend the children and prepare the meals.

The Doctor Says:

By EDWIN P. JORDAN, M.D.
Written for NEA Service

The atomic age is just as much of shock and a problem to physicians as to everyone else. With the possible exception of a very few recent graduates from our medical schools, physicians must learn from the ground up what can or should be done for the victims of any possible atomic bomb attack.

The bombs dropped at Hiroshima and Nagasaki are now known as "baby bombs." It is claimed that models 1000 times more powerful are now possible. If such bombs were used, they could cause death and injury 500 miles from the place where they fell. One authority recently stated that a single such bomb, dropped on 20 of our largest cities, could bring death to over 20,000,000 persons.

Toll of Doctors High

Of course, physicians, who would be expected to care for the survivors of any future atomic disaster, do not bear charmed lives.

At Hiroshima, 260 of the 300 physicians residing in that city were killed or severely injured by the atomic explosion. Not a single hospital was left in a good enough condition to serve the needs of patients.

These facts are not mentioned to cause unnecessary alarm. However, they do mean that, if atomic warfare comes to pass, the medical profession will be faced with a colossal and entirely new task in trying to care for those who survive long enough to need medical care.

Physicians, as much as any others, hope that any preparation for the care of such victims will prove to be an entire waste of time. But it is not safe to count on the absence of such an emergency, and, consequently, the medical profession is preparing as best it can to meet any disaster of this nature which might develop.

QUESTION: What can be done for vomiting and cramps in the abdomen, lasting for a year?

ANSWER: Such a condition is always serious. Every effort must be made to determine the cause and to remove or treat it, whether it lies in the stomach, in the intestines, or in the nervous system.

There are more than 17,500 barn fires annually.

DOROTHY DIX

Career For Widows

Dear Miss Dix: I was left a widow and I was wondering how I would keep from being lonely and growing old when a friend suggested taking up baby-sitting as a career. So many young mothers simply are frantic because they cannot go out at night with their husbands to any place of amusement because they have no reliable person with whom to leave the baby. Others who have had to give up their afternoon bridge parties can't even go down town shopping. They are tied down like slaves to Junior's cradle.

So I put an advertisement in the paper giving my credentials and saying that I would be glad to serve as a baby-sitter at forty cents an hour, day or night, and I have been simply overwhelmed with customers. I find the work pleasant because it brings back memories of when my own children were babies. It keeps me from spending lonely evenings and gives me money that I need, and I feel that I am a real missionary to young mothers who sorely need some help.

And the baby-sitter would seem like an angel sent from Heaven for the delivery of many a poor-bored young mother from imprisonment in a concentration camp to freedom. A baby can be the greatest tyrant on earth, and many a girl mother whose feet ache to dance is tied so tight to Junior's crib that she can't go out for a game of cards, or a dinner. Nor can she get any change of scene, as she has to let her husband go out at night with gay friends while she stays at home and watches the baby sleep. She becomes a veritable martyr.

Perhaps there never will be again a plenitude of good old family servants to help rear the children, as there used to be. But there always will be lots of elderly women who need to earn a little pocket money; so the institution of the baby-sitter fills a long felt want.

Dear Miss Dix: Are people of middle age supposed to feel all the thrills of love that are common to youth? Or what should they feel? Are common interests and respect more to be considered in middle age than heartthrobs and wild emotions?

Answer: Emotions are a matter of temperament, and age has very little to do with it. That is, of course, if you eliminate childish play.

Meyer Termmed Miracle Man of Baseball

By CARO LUNDQUIST T.

New York, Sept. 13 — (UPI) — He'd be the first to protest being called a "miracle man" but before the end of the long pro football season, Eli Meyer, the freshman pilot whose Pittsburgh Pirates are firmly in second place when logic says they should be in the second division?

It isn't in the tea leaves for the Pirates to beat out the Boston Braves, yet they are closing in relentlessly and after their seventh straight victory were just three games out of first place.

Yesterday, with ancient Rip Sewell beating the Chicago Cubs for the seventh time this season, the Pirates scored a 7 to 3 triumph while the Braves were splitting with the Phils at Philadelphia, dropping a 6 to 4 decision before winning a 2 to 1 battle in 13 innings.

Sewell's incredible success with the Cubs is only one of the reasons why Meyer is the front line candidate for "Manager of the Year" honors regardless of whether the Bucs overtake the Braves. Salvaged from baseball's scrap heap, the 4-year-old right hander now boasts a flashy 11-3 mark for the season. Yet he would have spent the season as a Pirate coach had it not been for the daring faith of Meyer who figured Sewell could win games if he had plenty of rest.

Yesterday, topping the Cub for the 14th time against eight losses this season, the Bucs profited by 14 walks while Sewell didn't give up any and yielded only five hits, one a homer by Hal Jeffcoat. Four of Pittsburgh's runs were forced on walks.

Dutch Leonard, though touched for 14 hits managed to beat the Braves in his 11th victory as Bama Powell, an ex-Bostonian got a triple, double and two singles to lead the Phils in the second game.

Alvin Dark singled twice bases on Earl Torgeson's single and scored the winning run in the 13th on Bill Salkeld's fly as Nelson Potter was credited with the victory.

Yesterday, the Devil's own walk-off in the ninth, a 10-9 win, was credited to the victory.

The Cardinals moved into third by defeating the Reds, 7 to 6 at St. Louis when Marty Marion singled home the winning run in the eighth. Johnny Wyrstek and Hank Sauer hit Cincinnati homers. Sauer's was his 31st establishing a new all-time high for Cincinnati players.

In the American League the Yankees moved to within two games of the first place Red Sox.
